Privacy (GDPR)

Protection of your personal data matters to us. We only process this data occasionally for sending information dedicated to legal news or events related to your professional activity. The purpose of processing this data is to pursue and develop our respective activities, by sending you timely and relevant information.

Your personal data is stored as long as our professional relationship is on-going, plus the time-bar where applicable. The recipients of your data are limited to technical subcontractors that we choose for a correct sending of information with respect to data protection. We never share your data for commercial purposes with third parties. Your personal data is not transmitted to non-EU member states.

You can access your data or ask for its erasing. You also have a right of rectification, opposition and limitation to the processing of your data. You can also send us general or particular instructions related to retention, erasing and communication of your data after death.

To exercise those rights, you can send us your request with your full contact information:

- by email to: cabinet@adrien-avocats.com

- or by postal mail to: Adrien & Associés, Avocats à la Cour, 27 rue La Boétie, 75008 Paris, France.

If you think, after having contacted us, that your rights are not protected or that the processing does not meet the data protection rules, you can file a claim with the Commission Nationale de l'Informatique et des Libertés (CNIL), 3 Place de Fontenoy, TSA 80715 - 75334 PARIS CEDEX 07 - Telephone: +33(0)1 53 73 22 22.

Our teams are available for any request at: +33(0)1 43 12 56 00
